ONE RUSSIAN SHIP SHOOTS AT ANOTHER

Is One Version of a Recent Blunder.

A Number of Japs Repulsed in the Outpost Skirmishes.

GREAT BATTLE YET TO COME

London, Nov. 22.—The Mail's Copenhagen correspondent recounts a story from a member of the crew of the Russian cruiser Aurora to the effect that Rojstvensky's flagship Kniaz Suvarov, mistakenly in the fog off Dogger bank bombarded the Aurora, whereupon Aurora signalled "We are being fired at" herself fired 350 shells at the British trawlers and the Russian fleet. This informant distinctly avers that there were two Russian torpedo boats with the first division of the Baltic squadron to which the Aurora belonged.

Mad at American Consul. St. Petersburg, Nov. 22.—A special dispatch from Tien-Tsin printed here stating that the American consul at Chefoo has warned the state department at Washington of the imminentness of the fall of Port Arthur is received with considerable criticism, the allegation being made that the dispatch was prompted by a desire to help the Japanese war loan.

Baltic Squadron. Canfa, Island of Crete, Nov. 22.—A section of the Russian second Pacific squadron commanded by Vice Admiral Voelkernall, sailed yesterday afternoon for Port Said. In this squadron are two battleships, two cruisers, six destroyers and eight transports.

100 Japs Killed. Berlin, Nov. 22.—A dispatch to Local Anzeiger from Mukden says: "Reconnaissance flights have assumed a more violent character during the past few days. Particularly hot fighting was the fighting on Poutifoff (Lone Tree hill) where the Japanese were repulsed with a loss of over 100 killed. All signs indicate great events are imminent."

Driving Enemy Back. Mukden, Nov. 22.—Russian detachments occupying Da Pass have retired before the Japanese column, one thousand strong. Japanese are reported advancing toward Sintsin.

Officers to Be Sent Home. Washington, Nov. 22.—Consul General Fowler, at Chefoo, cables the state department that a Chinese cruiser has been ordered by its government to convey the officers and crew of the Itantonpo to Shanghai.

No Fighting Lately. Paris, Nov. 22.—Dispatches received here this morning indicate that there has been no fighting recently between the Russians and Japanese at Shakhe river, and only unimportant skirmishes have occurred.

Steamer Hartlin Sinks. The Arkansas river packet J. N. Hartlin struck a snag 75 miles below Pine Bluff, Ark., and sank yesterday. She was valued at $10,000 and was fully insured. She belonged to Capt. Ed. Noland's company. She was reported at Paducah some time ago.

GEORGIA CARTOONIST DIES

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 22.—The house of Emere Thomas was badly wrecked by dynamite early this morning. Thomas is attorney for the civic federation, which has been active in enforcing the midnight and Sunday closing law against saloons. Thomas was slightly injured by the explosion.

Burglars Blow Safe. Danville, O., Nov. 22.—A drug store and the postoffice were entered last night and the safes blown and three hundred dollars secured. Burglars then stole a horse and buggy and drove to Howard, four miles away, there they blew the postoffice safe and secured six hundred dollars.

Cartoonist Dies. Atlanta, Nov. 22.—Chas. Nealin, the well-known newspaper cartoonist, died last night at Cave Springs, Ga., from consumption.

Died on Wife's Grave. Duluth, Minn., Nov. 22.—Despondent over the death of his wife, Chas. Mikelson last night shot and killed himself on her grave.

PROF. HUGHES

Will Take An Appeal to the State Superintendent.

A Lively Row Starts Up in the County Schools Again.

Prof. James Hughes, former county school superintendent and a teacher in the county schools at Tyler, this county, was tried yesterday afternoon before County Superintendent J. M. Ragsdale on charges of improper conduct, and suspended.

Prof. Hughes today stated that he would at once file appeal papers with the state superintendent, Mr. Flaug, at Frankfort. Prof. Hughes says there are two sides to the case. Supt. Ragsdale, he says, is a candidate against him for county court clerk, and has a direct interest in the charges preferred against him, and in maintaining them and giving him "a black eye."

He says he attempted to prevent the county superintendent on this account, from trying the case, but the law prescribed no other way to try charges against county teachers, so it had to be tried before the county superintendent.

Prof. Hughes says he will make his fight before the state superintendent, who has no interest in the case. The principal charges against Prof. Hughes were of intemperance.

The Colorado & Southern railroad will use automobile cars for inspection purposes.

REMAIN IN CABINET

Washington, Nov. 22.—It is announced at the White House that Attorney General Moody has fully decided to remain in President Roosevelt's new cabinet.

The decision of Attorney General Moody to remain in the cabinet renders it reasonably certain that heads of six of the executive departments have been determined by the president for the next administration. Secretary Hay will continue at the head of the state department; Secretary Metcalf will be in the depart-

TROOPS CALLED BECAUSE OF MOB

Three Negroes Narrowly Escape Lynching.

Militia at Lexington, Ky., was Called Out to Protect Prisoners.

THE FEELING STILL UGLY

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 22.—Last night before midnight the prospect of a mob, which had formed on the outskirts of the city, attacking the jail in which the alleged murderers Ed. Taylor, Garfield Smith and John Taylor, all negroes, are confined, was so pronounced that under the advice of County Judge Bullock, the militia was called out.

Beside the soldiers a strong force of police were placed on duty.

A detail of police was forced to attack and disperse a crowd of several hundred, arresting several who carried guns.

The troops which surrounded the jail last night were withdrawn this morning and sent to the armory.

There is still an ugly feeling and it will probably be necessary to put the soldiers on duty again tonight.

MORE ACTIVITY ABOUT MACEDONIA

Powerful Bands Appear From Bulgaria.

A Gals of Great Severity Sweeps Coast of England—Many Wrecks.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH PLEASES

Athenes, Nov. 22.—Fresh revolutionary activity is reported in Macedonia. Two powerful bands, it is said, appeared from Bulgaria, led by Bulgarian officers.

Turkish officials at Salonika, against the protests of consuls have opened the mail bags and searched for revolutionary letters addressed to persons in Macedonia.

New Treaty Signed.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Arbitration treaty between the United States and Germany was signed this morning by Secretary of State Hay and Baron Von Sternberg, German ambassador at the state department.

Coast in Gale-Swept. London, Nov. 22.—The gale which began yesterday increased in force today and the entire coast of England is being swept. Several inches of snow have fallen since Monday, and in many sections, especially on the east coast, many minor wrecks are reported, but so far no loss of life.

Pleased With Speech.

Berlin, Nov. 22.—President Roosevelt's speech at Washington Saturday at the unveiling of the statue of Frederick the Great, and attendant ceremonies have pleased Germany. Reports of extraordinary length for the German press were cabled, including the speech of the president and Ambassador Sternberg. Leading articles expressing appreciation of Roosevelt's utterances appear in most newspapers.

STILL ALIVE.

Little Hope For Attorney Berry's Brother.

Attorneys Wheeler and Hughes this morning received a letter from Attorney W. A. Berry, who is in Uniontown attending the bedside of his brother, Mr. H. E. Berry, who is precariously ill of typhoid fever, saying that the patient is in a precarious condition with little hope for recovery. If he lives until tomorrow, however, they think he will recover.

CHAIN GANG LAW IS DECIDED LEGAL

Judge Reed Rendered a Verbal Opinion Today.

Holds That the City Chain Gang Ordinance is Constitutional.

APPEAL WILL BE TAKEN

SECOND STREET PAVING

Ciruit Judge William Reed began calling his equity docket this morning in circuit court and called probably three hundred cases.

Many were dismissed, many continued and the remainder set for trial. Several demurrers in unimportant cases were passed on and the most important thing done by the court today was to act on the petition of Sam Stone against the city of Paducah, and brought by Attorney J. M. Wor-ten to test the validity of the city ordinance providing for working prisoners on the streets to serve out fines. He furthermore stated that he would file his written opinion tomorrow when he would have time to get it up in proper form.

The petition was originally filed ex parte and the city came in to make it a defendant. An answer was filed and a demurrer to the answer filed and overruled and the plaintiff then amended his petition, which was passed on as above.

Attorney Worren, was seen this morning and stated briefly regarding the decision: "The decision does not come to me as a surprise for Judge Reed has sustained the demurrer to the petition where I sue for damages for clients who have been worked on the streets. I simply brought this second suit to force the matter to the court of appeals and have it settled, the city attorneys being unwilling to push the matter in the appellate court."

100 SHOTS FIRED.

Deputy Marshal and Six Miners Killed.

Crisis Reached in the Strike at Zeigler, Ill.

Benton, Ill., Nov. 22.—A crisis in the Zeigler strike began last night when a hundred shots were fired into the southern boundary of Leiter's stockade.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Dowell is reported killed. Six non-union miners are said to have received wounds from which they died. Sheriff Stein left Benton this morning with a posse of 75 men for the scene. All communication with Zeigler is cut off and further information is impossible.

HANGED HIMSELF.

Kentucky Prisoner Committed Suicide in Jail.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 22.—William Fallis, brought here last night from Harrodsburg, Ky., charged with stealing $2,200 from Charles Schnattermeier, a farmer for whom Fallis was working, committed suicide in jail. He took morphine near midnight, but Sheriff Phillips called a physician and pumped it out. Fallis continued to lustre he would take his life before morning. Sheriff Phillips stood guard all night, but just at daylight went away to get the prisoner's breakfast and was only absent ten minutes and on his return found Fallis hanging dead in his cell.

ADJUDGED LUNATIC.

This afternoon in circuit court Mrs. Nancy J. Boyd, of the county, was tried and adjudged a lunatic and will be taken to Hopkinsville immediately.

ANNUAL ELECTION HERE NEXT MONTH

City Physician, Weigher and License Inspector to be Chosen.

Reported That Mayor Yeiser Will Veto the Electric Railway Ordinance.

SECOND STREET PAVING

AN ANSWER EXPECTED SOON

The annual election of city officers in Paducah will take place some time in December. There are now only three, possibly four, officials who are elected every year. These are city physician, city weigher, license inspector and possibly market master.

There is no doubt as to the three former. Col. Mike Johnson is now city weigher, Dr. Robert Rivers is city physician, Mr. Ed. Clark is license inspector, and Mr. Frank Smedley market master.

The ordinances under which the market master is now elected, it is understood, was along with several others of importance, left out of the book of revised ordinances. It is not known what will be done about it, but some of the present officials seem to think a market master will have to be elected next month.

There are only a few applicants thus far, but it is likely that the rush will begin in a few days and there will be a swarm after the various positions.

The sewer inspector, street inspector and market master are now appointed by the board of public works, unless, as stated above, the ordinance providing for the appointment of the market master by the board of works is void, because it is not in the revised ordinances.

If this is true, the market master will have to be elected by the general council next month.

When the right-of-way ordinance for the Cairo-Paducah electric railway is passed one more time by the councilmanic board, it will be ready for the mayor's signature. There is a great deal of interest in what the mayor will do with it. It is reported "on the quiet," that the mayor will veto it, but the mayor will never say anything in advance for publication about what he is going to do. It is known, however, that some of those interested in the road have received a strong intimation that the mayor will veto the ordinance when it comes for his signature.

TOM LAWSON

Is Sued for $350,000 for Libel.

Former Mayor of Grand Rivers, Ky., Gets Into Trouble Over His Magazine Article.

Boston, Nov. 22.—The Post says the "papers in a suit for three hundred and fifty thousand dollars damages were served yesterday on Thos. W. Lawson. The suit is brought by New York parties supposed to be acting for the Standard Oil interests.

It is also stated that the widow of Attorney Geo. Towle will sue Lawson for libel. Both suits are the result of disclosures made by Lawson in chapters on "Frenzied Finance."

GAS LEAKED.

Golconda Man Comes Near Being Killed.

While visiting the world's fair last week Spencer B. TALK OF A CALLED SESSION

Kentucky Delegation Preparing to Leave.

The New Elected Congressmen Do Not Take Their Seats Until March.

Congress Begins in A Few Days Now

Congress will convene in regular session on Monday, December 5, and all the members from Kentucky will be present on that day. The two senators will leave for Washington this week and the representatives will follow.

The coming session is the second regular meeting of the Fifty-eighth congress and is known as the "short term." The terms of all the representatives from Kentucky will expire on March 4, 1905, when their successors will be sworn in.

There is already talk of an extra session to revise the tariff, and if the president concludes to issue the call the regular session, ending on March 4, may run into the extraordinary session.

Considerable business is to be transacted at the coming meeting, and if the congress is not convened in special session by the president the first gathering of the Fifty-ninth congress, in December, 1905, will be a notable one for its length. Members say it will extend far into the summer of 1906.

No changes in congressional committees will be made until the first session of the Fifty-ninth congress. The committees appointed at the last session will serve during the coming meeting.

Kentucky's delegation in the Fifty-ninth congress will be the same at present, except J. M. Richardson will supplant John S. Rhea, from the Third district; J. L. Rhinehart will take Dr. Linn Goode's place in the Sixth, and D. C. Edwards will have Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter's seat from the Eleventh. Republicans say it is almost certain, however, that William Henry Jones will contest the seat of Mr. Richardson and that J. B. Bennett will try to displace Mr. Keene in the Ninth district.

NAN PATTERSON

IS NOW ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE.

New York, Nov. 22

CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humour.
Scratched Till Blood Ran.
Wasted to Skeleton.

CURED BY CUTICURA

One Application Soothed Him to Sleep. Cure Speedy and Permanent.

"When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, then to his entire body, and he got so bad that we came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on our Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that I put him in the cradle. You don't know how glad I felt when he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment, pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap, and about half a bottle of Cuticura Resinol, to cure. I think our little boy would have died only for the Cuticura Remedies, and I shall always remain a firm friend of them."

Mrs. M. C. MAITLAND, JASPER, ONTARIO.

Now return in 14 years. Mrs. Maitland writes, under date of Feb. 24, 1903, that the cure is permanent.

"It affords me much pleasure to inform you that it is fourteen years since my boy was cured of the terrible skin disease from which he suffered."

"He has been permanently cured and is healthy and strong."

NEW APPLICANT

DR. OLIVIA NELON TO APPLY FOR CITY PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Olivia Nel on is an applicant for the position of city physician, and has called on a number of city officials to enlist their support at the annual election next month.

Dr. Nel on has done a great deal of hospital work in New York and stands high in her profession. It is the first time that any of the male members of the profession here had any female opposition, and the outcome will be watched with interest.

CURED CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. W. H. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said that he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal. 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Dubois, Kolb & Co."

STREET CONTRACTS
WERE RATIFIED

Charles Robertson Gets Paving of South Second.

The Council Last night Defeated the "Town Cow" Ordinance—"Plain Clothes" Men Ordered.

THE ALDERMEN ALSO MEET.

ALDERMEN MET.

The board of aldermen held a called meeting last night to ratify the contract for the reconstruction of Second street between Broadway and Jefferson. Secretary Saunders F. Weller, of the Board of Works, reported on the storm water sewers and paved streets on that block as follows:

Robertson and Gardner, $1.87 per square yard for vitrified brick, paving, $4,831, and $48.47 for sewers, totaling $5,859.45. E. Teetell, $2.08 per square yard for vitrified brick, paving, $4,784, and $422.85 for sewers, totaling $5,406.85. Nashville Roofing and Paving Company, $2.15 per square yard for vitrified material, paving, $5,635, and $1,411.40 for sewers, totaling $7,046.50. The contract was awarded Meissner, Robertson and Gardner and they were instructed to use the Peeble brick, or something as good.

The bids for the curbing and side walks were as follows:

Contractor Terrell, 57 cents per linear foot for curbing and 12 1/4 cents per square foot for sidewalks; Anchor Paving Company, 50 cents per linear foot for curbing and 12 cents per square foot for sidewalks; Robertson and Gardner, 75 cents per linear foot for curbing and 17 cents per square foot for sidewalks. The bid of the Anchor Paving Company being the lowest the secretary recommended the contract be awarded to them, and such was done.

The ordinance granting the inter-city railway right-of-way up Eighth street to Clay, down Clay to Third and up Third to Jefferson, was given first passage, after remarks had been made both for and against it. The I.C. objected to the road crossing its tracks at Eighth and Trimble streets, but the board did not deem the objection well taken.

THE COUNCIL.

The councilmanic board then met in regular session.

The mayor reported that former Marshal James Crow would be given a quietus as soon as the account was straightened up. Thus far the city had $276 due from the former marshal, which the latter overlooked. It was referred to the solicitor.

A protest was filed to the construction of a corrugated iron addition to the Fowler-Wolf works on lower Broadway. It is likely the addition will be built of brick.

The appointment by the mayor as temporary city weigher of Capt. Mike Johnson to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late W. H. Hesseltine, was ratified.

J. C. Florynor and Solicitor Puryear were ordered to correct the revised ordinances, out of which it is claimed a large number of measures have been left out.

Mayor Yelser had introduced an ordinance to prevent cows running at large, and urged its passage. The ordinance was of course defeated, which might have been expected of this board. McCarty, Smedley and Righerger voted for the ordinance.

The council ratified the letting of the Second street contract to Charles Robertson and George Gardner, and further ordered that the storm water sewers for Kentucky avenue be laid from Second to the river, as the water from Second street would have to be drained.

The mayor and Board of Works were ordered to borrow money to make temporary repairs on Teuwsse, Clemmons, Trimble and Ninth streets where they need it.

The request of E. L. Mallory and Company for permission to run a spur track near Norton street between Seventh and Eighth streets, was referred to the Board of Works.

Bills and salaries were allowed, also $4,500 to the Nashville Roofing and Paving Company for work on Broadway.

The water company reported an extension of water mains from Sixteenth to Fountain avenue on Harrison.

The interurban right-of-way ordinance was given first passage. A request from Frank Hill and Mike Karpus to be exempt from taxation for five years on a brick yard they are to build on North Sixth street was referred to the solicitor.

The saloon license of John White, 120 Kentucky avenue, was transferred to Patterson and Ratter; that of Al Redmon, of North Fourth, was transferred to Joe Tilley.

The board of supervisors reported that all petitions for relief from over-assessment, etc., had been rejected except the following, which were granted:

M. Crahen, Fidelity and Trust company; F. S. Johnson, Ohio Valley Lumber Company; J. B. Hall, Mrs. R. T. Davis, R. B. Craig, John Sheehan, W. A. Hogan.

Back taxes of 1903 were ordered collected by suit by the city solicitor.

The fire committee was instructed to have placed on the new city hospital at Fourth and Clay streets a fire escape.

The council granted the request of the police board to put on two "plain clothes" men. Their salaries will be the same as other police officers, although no effort was made to make the salary $75 a month.

A request for permission to run a spur track from the I.C. river front track over to Covington Bros., at Third and Jefferson, passing through the street car power house yard, was referred.

The request of Mr. J. R. Cobourn for permission to erect a frame addition to a house on Washington between Fourth and Fifth was refused.

Solicitor Puryear reported that he would have ready the license ordinance. It was expected that it would be ready for last night's meeting, but it was not.

A demand was received from W. P. Gibson for $100 from the city for the horse that fell into a steam heating ditch a few days ago. Received and fled. Gibson drove into the ditch, it is claimed, on account of defective sight and the fact that the horse was blind, and if anyone is liable it is the steam heating company.

The solicitor reported the deed to the Potter farm, bought for cemetery purposes, was all right, and the city engineer was ordered to proceed as possible lay off part of it for the colored people.

Nothing was done regarding a reported protest of hucksters against not being allowed to sell inside the new market house.

Mr. L. N. Anderson claimed salary as sanitary inspector on the ground that Health Officer Graver had dismissed him without authority, but the council decided the health officer had authority, and took no action.

The request of H. W. Rottgerug for grades so he can improve streets running through his farm, was referred to the mayor and engineer.

On motion the board adjourned.

CONSTIPATION.

Health is absolutely impossible, if constipation is present. Many serious cases of liver and kidney complaint have sprung from neglected constipation. Such a deplorable condition is unnecessary. There is a cure for it. Herbs will speedily remedy matters. C. A. Lindsay, P. M., Bronson, Fla., writes, Feb. 12, 1902: "Having tried Herbs, I find it a fine medicine for constipation." 50c bottle. Sold by Dubois, Kolb & Co.

THE FOREST FIRES.

The woods which have been burning about Elva and Epperson have about been extinguished. The fire burned for two days and filled this section with smoke. In Illinois a great deal of brush has been burning and has caused a dense smoke. Fishermen on the lakes opposite the city say that at times it is so dense that they can hardly see from bank to bank while fishing.

The council ratified the letting of the Second street contract to Charles Robertson and George Gardner, and further ordered that the storm water sewers for Kentucky avenue be laid from Second to the river, as the water from Second street would have to be drained.

The mayor and Board of Works were ordered to borrow money to make temporary repairs on Teuwsse, Clemmons, Trimble and Ninth streets where they need it.

The request of E. L. Mallory and Company for permission to run a spur track near Norton street between Seventh and Eighth streets, was referred to the Board of Works.

Bills and salaries were allowed, also $4,500 to the Nashville Roofing and Paving Company for work on Broadway.

The water company reported an extension of water mains from Sixteenth to Fountain avenue on Harrison.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE AND DIABETES!

Have their origin in an Inactive or Disordered Liver. The most stealthy and fatal diseases confronting medical science, claiming more victims, annually, than war and famine combined. A puffiness under the eyes, paleness and scanty or too copious urine mark the beginning of Bright's Disease. When the liver is diseased, the kidneys in their effort to perform double work become affected. A simple "liver regulator" will not cure Kidney disease, for although it corrects the first cause, the Kidneys are still affected. A Kidney remedy will not do it, because the source of the disease is not reached. A cure is a remedy combining both, and because it removes the cause and at the same time cures the Kidneys. It is the only preparation now on the market that actually cures. Weakness in the small of the back, pains in loins and groins, numbness of the thighs, high colored or scaling urine, milky or bloody urine, frequent desire to urinate, nausea, vomiting, colic, constipation, hot and cold flashes, furred or unnaturally red tongue. These are the symptoms of diseased Kidneys—don't neglect them. Only one remedy contains all the curative properties, scientifically combined, required in the treatment of Liver and Kidney diseases, and that is Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. NOT FOR BEST FARM

In the State

I saw so much in the papers about the wonderful cures effected by Pyramid Pile Cure, I determined to give it a trial. I bought from my druggist one fifty-cent box and used it as directed, and by the time I had used the last "pyramid" I was entirely cured; in four days after I began to use the "pyramids" all inflammation was gone. I was perfectly easy all the time, the excessive discharge stopped at once, and stools became easy and gentle.

"I was unable to get my own firewood for four months, and until the time when I could walk at all I had to walk half bent. I used many pile remedies, salves and ointments, all to no effect until I used one fifty-cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and was cured."

"I would not be afflicted as I was four months ago for the best farm in the state of Arkansas. I can give proof and reference of the wonderful cure to all who are afflicted as I was. Please publish my letter that I may advise the afflicted." W. E. Waller, Piggy, Ark., Nov. 26.

The experience of Mr. Waller is that of thousands of others who suffer for years with the most painful forms of hemorrhoids, or piles, and after trying everything they hear of, give up all hope of a cure and look for temporary relief only. To all such a little book published by Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., brings glad tidings, as it tells all about the cause and cure of piles, and is sent free for the asking.

PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN.

The names of all the democratic precinct committeemen elected in the county outside the city yesterday afternoon cannot be ascertained at present, but the following are known: Morton Adecock, Lang's school; Will Yancey, Hendon's; Z. C. Graham, Grahamville; Oscar Haworth, Clark's River; J. T. Potter, Thompson's Mill. The committeemen from city precincts will be appointed by State Central Committeeman Clem Whittemore some time this week, and Monday the committeemen will elect a chairman.

CAIRO BALKS

Not Willing to Carry Any More
"Dead Wood."Will Also Not Stand for Dr. W. L.
Thompson Being President Again.

The Cairo Bulletin says regarding the statement in the Sun that the same cities would compose the K. L. T. league, and that it was foolish to talk about leaving Cairo out:

"The above sounds like an expression in favor of harmony in K. L. T. league baseball, and lovers of the game note such a position with gratification. However, the statement that the same cities will compose the league last year is erroneous. Cairo will not consider being in the league with Hopkinsville, Henderson and Clarksville. One of the latter cities may possibly be considered favorably, but not all three of them."

"That the playing baseball cities are forced to contribute to the support of the three cities named, as stated in the Paducah paper, is sufficient reason for dropping them from the league.

"In connection with the future of the league it might be well to add, also, that Cairo and President Thompson won't mix. An officer of the baseball company stated to the Bulletin last night that he would not be connected with K. L. T. league baseball next year if Mr. Thompson is."

Don't you think it's pretty nice
And that I cut a superior line of tee?
Now,

It's not every day
You meet a nice, sans,
Ladylike campaign
Like me,
To a man up a tree
It isn't quite plate
That I am a real, genuine, blown-in
The best campaign.

He misses the noise
And the boys,
The shouting,
Bouting,
Touting,
Shouting,

No such fucking days of yore,
When a campaign was war
All wood and a yard wide,
When every one on the other side
Would stand sleep
And keep Everything on which he could lay his hands

When hands
With frightful blare
Tore great, jagged holes in the air;
When frenzied orators would jump
From stump to stump
And bring voters to be on hand
Election day to save the land,
But how now goes the battle?
Do un horns rattle?
Nit,

This year they are a mist,
The riot
Has been calmed off. Quiet
Hides the day,
It's drop 'em handkerchiefs or some quiet play

Like that,
And it's against the rules of the game
to say
Seat!

Might Try an Ijunction.

"She is going
To sing her way
Into the hearts of the people."
"But what will the people
be doing meanwhile, particularly as they haven't notice it
in advance?"

Hindered by Laws.

While it is doubtless necessary to have a few laws that the method may dwell together after some method and that the publishers of law books may be able to retire on a fortune, yet there are some laws, doubtless passed with the best of intentions, that are well calculated to hamper men who desire freedom of action.

Laws against stealing watermelons and chickens, while they are annoying, may yet be tolerated, and some men can live happily while they are on the statute books, particularly if they are not enforced, but it is the law against killing boys that is specially annoying when your neighbor has a lot full and you want a quiet morning snooze.

Something should be done about this. In addition to the pursuit of happiness the pursuit of small boys should also be allowed by our constitution.

We can see a bright future for the political party that puts a pink in its platform touching and upporting to this.

PROTOCOL SIGNED
AND THE WAR ENDSThat is the Henderson Theater War.

Reported Manager English Gets
Nearly $7,000 For His Interests at Henderson.

A NEW NAME IS PROPOSED

All is now lovely in Henderson, and the Gleaner says:

"The theater war is over. The 'protocol' was signed yesterday the money paid and F. R. Hallam is the owner and manager de facto and de jure of the 'English.'

"The details of the deal were not given out for publication, but it is understood that something like $6,250 changed hands on the deal."

"The trouble in the matter was unfortunate, but it is over with and Manager Hallam promises that there will be 'something doing' in the show line from now on."

"The comits decided the matter as between Mr. J. E. English and Mr. F. R. Hallam and the decision was accepted by both and the property comes into Mr. Hallam's possession.

"Let the dead past bury its dead and the master of making the new play house a success is with us."

Speaking of the proposed change of the theater's name the Gleaner says:

"The hard of Avon bath said, 'A rose by any other name would smell as sweet.' And again, 'He that steals my purse steals trash, but he that gashes my good name, takes that which enriches him not and makes me poor for the taking.'

"We could go on ad libitum with quotations from Shakespeare, the Bible, Mother Goose and Robinson Crusoe as to names, cognomens and 'handles,' but that, like the buds that blossom in the spring, it has nothing to do with this case."

"To the point and without digression," as Marvo Henry would say. We have a new theater; it has been christened the 'English,' and since by a recent deal it has passed into the bands of Mr. Hallam, there is a motion before the house for a change of name. The popular plan for renaming Henderson's new playhouse is submitted in this lesson.

"The names suggested thus far are: 'The Park,' 'The Hallam,' 'Lyric,' 'Dixie' and several others.

"One of the Gleaner's friends joan larly suggested 'The Crisis.'

"It's up to the people to decide.
"What will be the name?"

Eternity Is a Long Time.
(From Life.)

An evangelist in a little town was trying to give his hearers an idea of the length of time those must suffer the end of whose journey is the terminus of the broad road.

"My brethren," he exhorted, "if a little bird were to dip its beak in the Atlantic ocean, gather up a drop of water and then hop across the continent—not fly, but hop its way inch by inch—until it reached the broad road, and there deposit its little drop of water, winkle back and again dip its beak in the Atlantic, and continue this operation until it had emptied the Atlantic into the Pacific, and continue this operation until it had emptied the Pacific into the Atlantic, it would not yet be man up in hell."

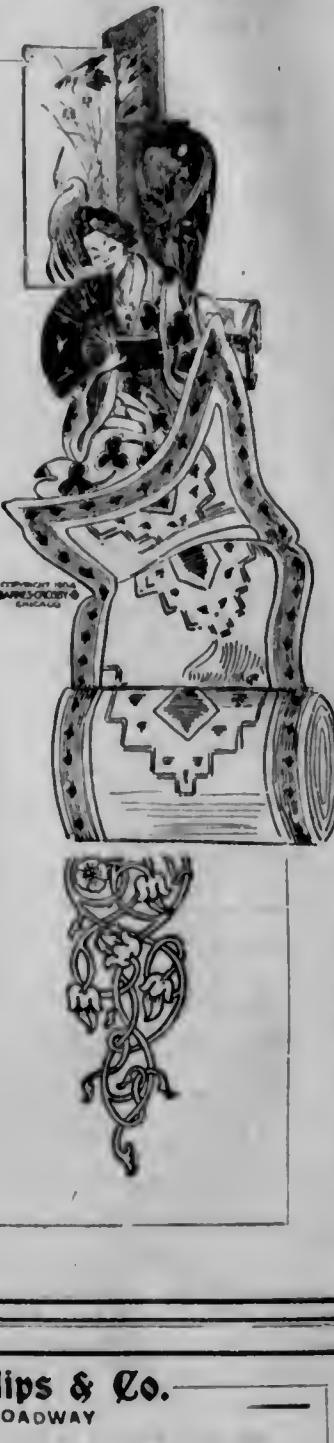

Some shuddered in their seats at the awful word picture, while others of the more zealous brethren cried aloud, "Amen!"

THE SCHOOLS

Pupils Work is to be Exhibited at High School.

At the Meeting of the District Teachers This Week.

The teachers in the Paducah public schools are preparing to exhibit work done by their pupils at the annual meeting of the First District Teachers' Association to be held here on Friday and Saturday.

Heretofore the meeting of the education association has been confined to teachers' work exclusively, but the teachers to show what they have been doing will exhibit work of their classes this time.

"This is somewhat a departure from the usual work of the association," Sept Leib stated this morning, "but the idea is, I think, a very good one. The teachers are very much interested in their work, more so than ever before and the work they are doing is excellent. The schools, in fact, could not be doing better than at present, and the exhibition of the work of their pupils will do them credit and will show other members of the teachers' association just what excellency has been obtained in Paducah schools the past year."

The teachers will get up their exhibits this week and show them during the "round table" sessions when teachers of certain grades get together and hold meetings. This round table meeting idea is also a new one, but is an improvement over the general meeting which has been heretofore held.

RETRIBUTION AT LAST.

Those who have lost chickens within the past few weeks from an unknown animal can rest assured that they will lose no more. Mr. Haskell Hughes last Friday night heard a noise among his chickens, and going out spied an animal that proved when shot to be a possum. A chicken in the yard nearby with its throat cut told the story, and as this is the way scores of other chickens have been found within the past several weeks, it is likely that the possum is the miscreant that had been doing the work.

THE PRESIDENT THEIR FRIEND.

President Roosevelt will soon—very soon no doubt,—talk to the people of the south, and try to show them that they have misjudged him. Secretary Taft spoke at New Orleans a day or two ago and the dispatches say he made profound impression. In response to the toast, "The President," he said:

"Now, I am glad to say that he is going to make a visit to this part of the country (tremendous applause), and I ask you to listen to him as he talks to you face to face, and I ask you, when he has talked to you face to face, to say whether you think he is a sectional man, or has any sectional feeling or animosity. I ask you to look through all his writings. Was there ever a candidate who has written so much upon every subject at every time of life? I ask you to look through his writings and find a single line that indicates hostility or sectional feeling toward the south. (Great applause.) Now, I am not going into a discussion of sectionalism or race, because it is not meant that I should. I am not here with a mandate from him, but I am here to say that the attacks upon him from this region of the country have only vindicated him, and that I know that there is in his nature, in his courage, in his dash and in his love of a strenuous life, that which appeals to the southern nature and that which I know will find sympathy in every one of your hearts. (Great applause.)"

This indicates that men of the Tillman-Vardaman-Bailey stripe are exceptions in the south. They have caused a great deal of the prejudice against President Roosevelt, but Secretary Taft's reception indicates that the best people of the south will extend the president a cordial welcome when he comes.

President Roosevelt might ignore the south if he chose to, but he does not choose to. He is president of the whole people, and deserves the co-operation of the whole people. The attitude of many southern leaders and the southern press towards the president ever since he assumed the duties of his high office has been such that a vindictive man in the face of such an overwhelming victory as the president won Nov. 8, might now settle a few old scores.

But not so with President Roosevelt. In the flush of victory he is willing and anxious to show the people of the south how they have wronged him, and how anxious he is to enjoy their respect and good will.

And if the people of the south do not meet him half way, we are very much mistaken in them.

Ed. Butler admits that St. Louis, Mo., has been stolen from the republicans for the past thirty years. Let's now hear the truth about Louisville, Ky.

DEMOCRACY'S FINISH.

The Kansas City Star, independent, says that the recent election was the greatest republican victory since Horace Greeley, and adds:

"What next? Another republican victory and another and another, unless the democratic party can succeed in securing up something better in the way of an issue than the 'nigger' and the bugaboo of imperialism."

"The style of a canvass that Parker made, and the sort of campaign that most of the newspapers of the solid south exploited, in the fight which they put up against Roosevelt didn't even fool part of the people part of the time."

The Louisville Post no longer flouts the banner of democracy at its mast head. It stuck to the standard as long as it could, but now instead announces itself "an independent paper." The Post's own explanation is quite sufficient—"Manifestly there is no longer a democratic party." There may be those who will dispute this assertion, but the results of the last three presidential elections will be poor proof for them to offer to the contrary.

That Judge Parker is able to "salt up and take notice" is proven by the fact that he has already hired the most expensive suite of rooms in a New York hotel, and has been given two cases in which the fees will be $10,000.

Mrs. Adelaide Thurston received a warm welcome last night at the Kentucky theatre in "Polly Primrose," by Paul Whiteman, author of "Tim Murphy's 'A Capitol Comedy,'" and many other good things. She was doubtless pleasantly surprised at the greeting she received, for up to late in the afternoon few tickets had been sold. The audience that spread over the house when the curtain went up, however, was large and composed of representative people, and they were so delighted with Miss Thurston's dainty manner and clever acting that she was compelled to make a curtain speech—a very pretty little speech it was, too.

"Polly Primrose," however, is what it was advertised to be, and more.

It is a war time play, and the characters are odd to the younger generawoman. The lines are fine and Miss Thurston this season has one of the finest companies on the road. Those especially fine, after Miss Thurston, of course, were Hirstley Shaw, Hugh Carlisle, Frederick Kerby as Oliver Chase, the villain, and Jas. H. McCann, as Col. Prulrose.

The play is elaborately and magnificently staged, and great attention is paid to detail. Miss Thurston is one of the brightest stars in the atrial firmament, and "Polly Primrose" gives her an opportunity to display her talent. She won many more admirers in Paducah last night, and too much cannot be said for the excellence of her company.

Actors sometimes run across queer things in their weary wanderings after fame and incidentals. Harry Heresford, who comes to The Kentucky Saturday, considers the following "All-fired good." The lines and accompaniment were found written on the door of a crematory out west:

"Ashes to Ashes."
"Thou'ret made of dust,—thou'ret out for dust.

To dust thou must return,
But if thou dost nor turn thy dust,
Thy dust we cannot earn."

Underneath in large letters was scrawled—

"Not so dusty."

Old Time Rocks.

Henrik Ibsen has splendid interpretation of his masterpiece 'Ghosts,' at the hands of Claus Hogel and his company who will be seen at The Kentucky Thursday matinee and night. Mr. Hogel has the admiration and respect of that portion of the public which knows good plays and good acting when it sees them. It is doubtful if his work in "Ghosts" has ever been excelled. He realizes the author's conception of the unfortunate son, which is praise enough where Ibsen is concerned. The company has been selected with exceptional care and is undoubtedly one of the best that will be seen here this season.

The case of Mary E. Clark against the I. C. was yesterday concurred in a compromise of $500. She sued for $10,000 for damages alleged to have been done her household furniture, pictures and walls by smoke from engines passing on the Cairo extension and also for loss of sleep and the general inconvenience caused by the trains passing day and night.

All cases against the steamer Chattanooga were continued, the paper for settlement of claims not being ready. The boat was sold at auction to settle the claims against it.

The only case tried today was that of Jeff D. Carter against the I. C. road, for $5,000 damages for injuries to his shoulder by being thrown off a car by a defective brake he was trying to use in stopping the car. The jury returned a verdict for $700 damages without leaving the court room.

POLICE COURT.

Judge D. L. Sanders held a profitable session of police court this morning, assessing fines aggregating $516.

Nine bawdy house keepers were fined $30 and costs each which constitutes the greater portion of the fines assessed, but there were two other cases where defendants got "stuck" pretty heavy by the court.

Frank Campbell, colored, a resident of the South Side, who several times bad been before the court for misrepresenting his wife, was arraigned again for trying to wreck his house and beat his wife into insensibility. The evidence showed that he tore up chairs, broke mirrors and window glass and tore the clock to pieces and then began on his wife.

He administered a rather severe beating, of which the court did not approve, judging from the $100 fine set down opposite his name on the docket.

Bob Bright, colored, who had a pistol and flourished it was fined $75 and costs.

The court remarked that such pastimes should be stopped, as pistols were dangerous.

Mr. Thomas W. Roberts will retain his position as treasurer of the Kentucky theatre here, and also his position as carrier in the postoffice. He went to Henderson recently to assume charge of the new theatre, but as already known it was sold. Mr. Roberts was granted leave of absence as a letter carrier, his resignation not being accepted.

Attorneys Allenworth and Ross

this afternoon filed a big suit in circuit court against the Paducah Cooperative Company.

The suit was filed for O. W. Corley against the Cooperative Company for $15,000 damages for personal injuries.

Corley worked for the company as a his right hand cut off, the saw taking off the member just below the elbow.

He claims the accident was due to defective machinery and fixes the amount as reasonable damage for the loss of the arm.

Minna's Curl

(Original)

Minna stood in her booth at the fair. Behind her and on the counter before her was arranged a profusion of things useful and ornamental. People were passing and repassing, the women looking for bargains, the men sollicitous only as to how much they should spend. Leigh Pitman came along, stopped before Minna's booth, and stood with his arms resting on her counter looking into her face.

And her face was well worth looking into, not only for its comeliness, but for the character depicted there. Minna was a high-bred dame and a beauty. Her glory was her hair. Till she was eighteen she had worn it in a long braid down her back; now that she was twenty-four it formed whirlpools and puffs and waterfalls, in second舞 with her whisms or the creative genius of her hairdresser.

If her hair was Minna's glory, there was that which won the glory of her hair. This was a beautiful curl which emerged from behind her ear and drooped over her shoulder. Minna's curl was the envy of her girl and the admiration of her men friends. If the curl was intermingled with the rest of her hair it was missed, and she was bothered with questions as to what had become of it. Therefore it had never appeared in company without it.

"What can I sell you, Mr. Pitman?" she asked entitling. Pitman looked over the articles displayed deprecatingly, then raised his eyes.

"There's only one thing in the lot I want," he said. "And that is?"

"Your curl." "Nonsense! Here is a pin cushion. Just the thing for your dressing table. Handsomely trimmed; real lace. Don't you want it?"

"No, I want the curl."

Minna tossed her head, but she was seized with an idea of entrapping the young man into paying a high price for her curl. He had money, and the church needed money.

"How much will you give for it?" she asked.

"Oh, you wouldn't sell it."

"Try me and see." "I will draw you my check for a thousand dollars."

Minna thought a moment, then, taking up a pair of scissors, she cut off the curl, wrapped it carefully in tissue paper and put it in a long, narrow box that had held a fan. Then, laying it on the counter before her customer, she said:

"A thousand dollars, please."

Without the slightest hesitancy Pitman took out a pocket check book called for pen and ink, wrote the check, handed it to Minna, picked up his purchase, bade her "Good evening" and walked away.

Minna stood looking after him. What was he going to do with her curl? What could he do with it? Why, nothing. He had bought it in a spirit of imagined bravado and gallantry. Her side of the transaction was perfectly practical. She had gathered for the church a thousand dollars, which, with the other proceeds of the fair, would pay its debt.

At the next reception Minna attended it was noticed that her curl was missing. Since she had made a secret of its sale, she was besieged with questions. A knot of young people were clustered about her, bantering her as to what she had done with it, when a strange thing happened. Leigh Pitman came sauntering across the room, and plumped to his coat collar a long, glossy curl fell lovingly over his shoulder. There was an explosion of laughter on the part of Minna's friends, while Minna turned red as a rose.

From that time forward at every social gathering, at parties, receptions, balls, Minna's curl half encircled Pitman's neck, suggesting the embrace of her own white, round arm. Minna herself was a target for all the witlessness of the bright people and the blundering contumacious of the fools. She stood it till she was worn out, then wrote Pitman, offering to buy back her curl. He replied that it was not for sale. Minna then wrote asking what she could do to get possession of it. Pitman replied that the only way he could suggest would be for her to marry him, use the privilege of a wife to get her hands on it and place it where it would do no harm.

Minna made no reply to this proposal. The social season was at an end, and the curl was not likely to trouble her, at least not so much. But the next winter Pitman appeared at the first "assembly" ball with his curl over his shoulder, and the girl on whose head it had grown knew that she had the prospect of another winter of banter. She withdrew from society.

This had no effect upon Pitman, who wore his curl constantly, and Minna, who had as many friends in her retrement as in society, heard constantly of the young man's doings. At last she sent for him to come and see her.

"Why do you persist in keeping up this disagreeable folly when you know how it suffer by it?" she asked.

"And why do you persist in refusing to repossess yourself of your curl when I have shown you a way?" It has not occurred to you that it is a very hard part I am playing?"

"Then why do you play it?"

"In the hope that you will at last yield."

Minna thought awhile. "You must want me very much," she said presently.

"Indeed I do."

When Pitman left her he had promised to retire the curl, and she had promised to consider his terms. The curl never appeared again in public, and Minna eventually became Mrs. Pitman.

The C. O. D. Man

He Tells How He Made a Hit With a Young Girl and a Miss as a Preacher.

A DILAPIDATED gentleman who is touring the country is certain to meet up with adventures," said the C. O. D. man, as he pocketed the coin extended to him and made ready to relate. "I have had my share of them, and some of them are worth remembering.

"I got caught in the wilds of Wisconsin one winter three or four years ago. That is, I was out in the country among the farmers when winter set in and there was a snowstorm lasting three days. There was thirty inches of snow on the level when it ceased falling, and it was a week before the country roads were opened.

"Two or three others added their pleadings, and I finally consented to go in and start things off. They told me something about the old man's life and character, and when all was ready I made the most of what I had. I found myself making a hit. The late deceased was an old skinflint and a mighty mean man, so I afterward heard, but when I went to see him he was generous, sympathetic and full of charity. I brought tears to all eyes. I pictured him as one who had made the world brighter and better for his life and one who needed no graven stone to have his name and his memory kept green for the next half century. I had women sobbing and men wiping their eyes before I was half through.

"Of course I had a separation mapped out. I had just gotten down to it when I was putting old Birdsell up among the angels when something happened. I was never so knocked out in my life.

The old critter, who was supposed to have been dead two days, not only sat up in his coffin, but he called out to his wife:

"Sarah, I forbid you to pay that preacher a blamed cent for palaver, and don't you give any of these folks a thing to eat!"

"You may guess that the meeting adjourned in short order. I had tried to make a hit and missed it, but through no fault of my own. I not only lost all the best of my personnel, but the old woman blithed me out on the highway with the remark,

"Now, you jog right along out of this. You ought to be ashamed of yourself, traveling around the country and bringing dead folks to life this way!" M. QUAD.

Judging by His Wife.

Professor—Yes, sir, your daughter is pretty well grounded in French, but it will of course take some time and trouble for her to acquire fluency.

Father—Well, you know that's rather strange to me. I had an idea that the fluency would have come sooner naturally with her. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

An Andacious Wish.

"I wish my father was a Mormon," said the incorrigible infant.

"How can you say such a thing?" asked the aunt.

"Because Mormons sometimes have such large families that they can't remember all the children's names, much less punish 'em." —Washington Star.

In Secret Service.

The young fellow and the girl riding a high horse, but when I understood how things were I saw that I had a job on hand. I didn't take the center of the stage and cry out, "Young girl, I will save you at the peril of my life!" I did not point a long, lean finger at the villain and exclaim, "Hegone, scoundrel, or I will plunge this dagger into your heart!" The situation might have been dramatic, but it ended for something more than wooden dagger and bony words.

"I got at the facts by piecemeal, with the girl crying and the fellow riding a high horse, but when I understood how things were I saw that I had a job on hand. I didn't take the center of the stage and cry out, "Young girl, I will save you at the peril of my life!" I did not point a long, lean finger at the villain and exclaim, "Hegone, scoundrel, or I will plunge this dagger into your heart!" The situation might have been dramatic, but it ended for something more than wooden dagger and bony words.

The young fellow and I looked each other over. I found him broad backed and husky. He sized me up for an average tramp, and he figured on pitching me outdoors in about a minute. With the girl sitting behind the stove weeping, we both pulled off our coats and vests, moved back the benches and went at it. I believe that clump could have got away with anybody in the country in a rough and tumble fight of it, but I wouldn't make that kind of a fight of it. I stood him off and jabbed him, and the set-to would have been worth a dollar admission. It lasted a good half hour, and there was little time for breathing. Not a word was said by either of us, but after the row had got well started the girl stood up on a bench and became interested. Later on she even forgot her grief and clapped her hands and cried out "Good" when I got a good one home. "I'll say this for the fellow—that he fought a square fight, and that he had the grit of a bulldog. He was a likled man at last, however, and I helped him on with his vest and coats and escorted him out to his sled and started him off. I hadn't come out of it scathless, but I didn't feel my bruises much when the girl began to express her gratitude and sing my praises. I believe she would have married me then and there if a preacher had been present.

"Well, I kept the fire going and she nodded and slept, and it was high noon next day before her friends arrived and took her away. There were three hearty farmers in the sled, and any one of them would have given me free board for the rest of the winter, but I decided to jog along. It was just a little romance, lasting only a few hours, and I have never seen or heard of the girl since. She's probably married ere this, while yours truly still continues in his single and dilapidated career.

"If I made a hit in the one case, I made a tulip in another not two weeks later. I had got down into Michigan and was jogging along one day when I came to a crowd at a farmhouse. It didn't take long to figure out that the people had gathered for a funeral.

Cardigan

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

Copyright, 1901, by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

"What is it, Mr. Duncan?" I teased. But the laughing officer shook his head, retiring into the guardroom and pretending to be afraid of me.

The soldiers had all risen, taking their muskets from the racks, straightening belts and bandoleers. A drummer and a trumpeter took station six paces to the right and front; the sergeant, at a carry, advanced and saluted with "Hooray! is formed, sir."

I followed, and now, standing by the blockhouse gate, far away in the village I heard the rhythmic of a drum and a loud trumpet blowing.

Nearer and nearer came the drum; the trumpet ceased, and now I could hear the tramp, tramp, tramp of infantry on the hill's black crest.

"Present arms!" cried Mr. Duncan sharply.

A dark mass, which I had not supposed to be moving, suddenly loomed up close in front of me, taking the shape of a long column, which passed with the flicker of starlight on musket and belt, tramp, tramp, tramp to the ringing drums.

There our drum rattled and trumpet sang prettily, while Mr. Duncan rendered the officer's salute as a dark stand of colors passed, borne forth and high above the slanting muskets.

"Tout le monde!" said Mr. Duncan. "Sous part armes! Tirez armes! Abat face! By the right flank, wheel! March!"

Back into the blockhouse flew the guard, the drummer bearing his drum flat on his lap, the trumpeter swinging his instrument to his shoulder. "What troops were those, sir?" I asked respectfully.

"Three companies of Royal Americans from Albany," said Mr. Duncan. Then, musing my puzzled face, he added: "There is to be a big council the field here, Master Cardigan. It is the Six Nations gathering. We expect important guests."

"What for?" I asked.

"I don't know," said Mr. Duncan gravely. "Good night, Mr. Cardigan."

"Good night, sir," I said thoughtfully, then cried after him, "And my present, Mr. Duncan?"

"Tomorrow," he answered and passed on his way a laughing, and I walked quickly back to the Hall.

"If Sir William does not return, you will dine with Felicity alone," said Aunt Molly to me, "and I expect you to conduct exactly like Sir William, and refrain from kicking under the table."

"Yes, Aunt Molly," said I, delighted. Silver Heels, with her hair done by Betty and a blue sash over her fresh flowered cambric, passed me on the stairs coming down, prancing to wish Mistress Molly good night.

"Have you seen the soldiers, Micky, and the tires on the hills?" she cried. "Tomorrow all the officers will be here, and I am to wear my hair curled and my pink dress and tucker, with separate sleeves of silver guaze. Micky, go and put on your silk breeches and lace cuffs, and we will be gay and grand to-night."

I ran to my chamber, bathed and dressed in all my finery, meaning to lord it in the dining hall should Sir William not return.

So that night Silver Heels and I supped alone together in the great hall, Mr. Butler having hurriedly ridden to his home, and Sir William not yet returned, though two hours past candle-light.

I remember we had a handmaid striped, of which Silver Heels took too much, it making her pettish and sleepy, and after supper, when we sat together on the stairs, she rapped ever on the same string, reproaching me for playing the high and mighty, whereas all could plainly see I was nothing but a boy like Dick and Peter and need give myself no plumes.

"You shall see," she said, "you shall see me in flowered cambric, silk stockings and shoes of Paddington's make, which befit my station and rank! You shall see me in padussey and ribbons and a hat of guaze! I shall wear pompadour gloves and shall take no notice of you, with your big hands and feet."

"Nor I of you," said I, "tricked out in your silly finery."

Sitting there in the dark I could hear the distant stir of the convoy at the barracks and wondered why the soldiers had come. Surely not because of danger to us at the Hall, for we had one Mohawks, our militia and yeoman tenantry at back and call. Besides, who would dare threaten Sir William Johnson, the greatest man in the colonies, and very deeply esteemed by our king?

"They say," said Silver Heels, "that there are men in Boston who have even deified the king himself."

"Never fear," said I, "they'll all hang for it."

"Would you like to fight for the king?" she asked civilly, and without a trace of that mockery which left a sting, much as I pretended to despise it.

I said I should like to very much; that my father had died for his king, and that I should one day avenge him.

I would have said more, perhaps boasted, for Silver Heels was inclined to listen, but black Betty came down stairs, her double earings a-jingle.

DEAD TO THE WORLD

[Original]

I shall give no true names in this story. I shall call myself Alexis Olloroff, while in a confession that I am a Russian. Ten years ago I left Russia for America. I was twenty-two years of age. I had joined the nihilists, and the fact had been discovered by my father, who convinced me that I was in error and sent me to America, hoping that my youthful indiscretion might pass harmlessly by my entering a new field.

My first summer in the warmer climate I spent at the seashore. One afternoon I was lying on the shore on my back, my straw hat shading my eyes, looking out over the waves beating up against the rocks below. Far to the left I could see a white line of foam marking a succession of graceful curves. My cheek was fanned by a steady sea breeze laden with that salt odor which has always been to me so delicious. Hearing a footstep, I raised myself from my reclining position, and, seeing a young girl approach, I stood, hat in hand, waiting for her to pass me. Then suddenly I recognized her as the daughter of a gentleman living on an estate adjoining my father's in Russia.

Heretofore I had tried every known remedy.

DR. DUROIS, KOLR & CO.

can tell you all about Dr. Carstedt's German Liver Powder: it has cured many of his customers who are recommending it to their friends.

However that testimonials is the guarantee under which Dr. Carstedt's German Liver Powder is sold. If it does not relieve and cure you it will cost you nothing, so go at once and procure the remedy and take along this guarantee.

men, Captain Cardigan's only son!"

The officers, all in full dress, brilliant with the red, green and gold of the Royal Americans, greeted me most kindly, some clapping acquaintance with my honored father and all speaking of his noble death before Quebec.

So we sat down to breakfast, a breakfast I, being excited, scarcely tasted, but I listened with all my ears to the discourse touching the late troubles in New York and Massachusetts, concerning the importation of tea by the East India company. The discussion soon became a monologue, for the subject was one which Sir William understood from A to Z, and his eloquence upon it had amazed and irritated people of more importance than our Governor Tryon himself.

"Look you," said Sir William to his host, all in full dress, brilliant with the red, green and gold of the Royal Americans, greeted me most kindly, some clapping acquaintance with my honored father and all speaking of his noble death before Quebec.

"It is the true history of that trou- ble, gentlemen. Judge for yourselves men, Captain Cardigan's only son!"

The officers, all in full dress, brilliant with the red, green and gold of the Royal Americans, greeted me most kindly, some clapping acquaintance with my honored father and all speaking of his noble death before Quebec.

So we sat down to breakfast, a breakfast I, being excited, scarcely tasted, but I listened with all my ears to the discourse touching the late troubles in New York and Massachusetts, concerning the importation of tea by the East India company. The discussion soon became a monologue, for the subject was one which Sir William understood from A to Z, and his eloquence upon it had amazed and irritated people of more importance than our Governor Tryon himself.

KENTUCKY NEWS TOLD IN PARAGRAPHS

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

AGAIN AFTER REBATORS.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 22.—The reputable life insurance companies doing business in Kentucky have declared open warfare upon a class of insurance agents known as rebators, which will be relentless until such agents are exterminated in this state. This action was determined at a meeting held in Louisville. Detectives will be employed to ferret out the rebators, the assistance of a number of business men has been enlisted in the work, and committees of insurance men appointed at the meeting at Louisville.

LAWS IDENTIFIED SOME MORE.

Guthrie, Ky., Nov. 22.—C. H. Adams, of this city, V. B. Neckles, of Elizabethtown, and O. M. Dixey, of Corydon, have returned from Madisonville, where they went to identify R. B. Laws, who was arrested recently at Paducah for passing a worthless check at Dawson, and who recently fleeced each of the gentlemen out of $50.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 22.—Fred Sroder, a youth, was hunting near Harrods Creek and in getting through a fence his gun was accidentally discharged, the contents passing through his chest, killing him instantly.

MRS. ALLEN ACQUITTED.

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 22.—Mrs. Victoria Alien, who was tried at Morganfield for the charge of drowning her babe in the river there, has been acquitted. It was decided she was not in her right mind.

SMALLPOX IN CHRISTIAN.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 22.—Dr. J. N. McCormack, of the State Board of Health, is here investigating the smallpox situation in Christian county. Compulsory vaccination will be ordered, and a personal representative of the state board will be sent here to carry out the instructions of that board. The situation here is improving. Of twenty-six cases in the past twelve were discharged yesterday.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 22.—Lesster Memorial Presbyterian church was dedicated Sunday at Elmo, Ky., with impressive ceremonies. Dr. W. L. Nourse, formerly of Hopkinsville, is pastor.

A SITE OFFERED.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 22.—The state capitol commission has received, through Frank Chinn, of this city, a proposition to sell to the state a plot of twenty-one acres on the South Side, known as the Hunt property, for $50,000. The site is at the extreme southern portion limits of the city and was for years occupied by state officials. Gen. P. Watt Hardin lived there during his term as Attorney General. John W. Hasdey occupied it while secretary of state and W. S. Taylor made his residence there while governor.

All of the members of the state capitol are here and will be for several days.

DEATH IN GRAVES.

Mayfield, Ky., Nov. 22.—Mr. George Brooks, a well known citizen of Danville, died of typhoid pneumonia. He leaves a wife and three children.

WILL RECOVER

SHERIFF HARRIS' CHILD WILL PROBABLY GET WELL.

Ruth, the year old daughter of Sheriff W. H. Harris, of Mayfield, who was accidentally shot in the head by a pistol dropped by an uncle, Mr. Levin Palmer Sunday night, is better and will recover it is thought. The bullet was shot through the head, but was able to nurse the next morning.

NEWS OF THE RIVERS.

see river boats. He was on the Tennessee until low water necessitated a smaller boat.

The eighth annual convention of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, Judge Thomas Roulac, of Sheffield, president, convened at Decatur, Ala., today. Congress will be memorialized for $800,000 to help carry on the work at Colbert Shoals, and then later the Fifty-fifth congress will be asked for enough money to complete the opening of the shoals.

The river has fallen a tenth since yesterday, and today the gauge is five-tenths. The weather is cool and most of the morning there was a heavy fog over the river.

"Well, is it rising?" asked one river man of another today as he descended down the river front and took a look at the foggy remnants.

"Yes, the bottom's rising," responded the other.

There were no boats in or out today, and it is not known when there will be. Outside, of course, of the ferry, the Cowling from Memphis, and an occasional boat from Smithland.

The Rees and Peters Lee will be the Memphis packets this fall and winter. Two good hosts and very popular.

The Lulu Warrin is due out of the Tennessee river today, but it is not known whether or not she will arrive.

The sidewheel Zanetta is being changed to a sternwheel boat at Galion.

Capt. Jack McCaffery returned last night from Cairo, but the loss on his steamer, the Tex Brook, has not been adjusted. Capt. Coffin is now there to settle it. Capt. McCaffery wants the company to pay the insurance and take the bulk, and it is understood the company is trying to induce him to take the bulk and deduct part of the insurance.

Capt. Alex Craig, organizer of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, will probably leave the city tomorrow, after several days' work in securing new members. He has added forty to the membership since he came to Paducah and expects to get many more before he leaves. Last year he secured fifty three.

Mr. Joe Sennett has resigned his position on the St. Louis and Tennessee.

A BIG GAME HERE THANKSGIVING DAY

A Football Contest Between Paducah and Cairo.

Will Be for the Benefit of the Y. M. C. A. and a Large Crowd Is Expected.

THE TWO LINEUPS GIVEN

Probably the biggest game of football ever played in Paducah will be that Thursday afternoon between Paducah and Cairo.

The game will be at league park Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will be for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. A large crowd is expected, as it will be the best football game and the only one of consequence, of the season.

The line-up is as follows:

Paducah—Ed. Hawkins, center; E. Still, right guard; Horroughs, left guard; Hamage, right tackle; Stiles, left tackle; Jim Burns, left end; Grover Burns, right end; Kidd, quarter; Nelson, right half; Norton, full; Brooks, Capt., left half.

Cairo's substitutes are to be Gates, Kickert, Hines and Cosby. Paducah has no selected substitutes.

ABOUT SUGAR.

A Large Quantity is Needed For Paducah and This Vicinity.

Speaking of the shortage in sugar in Paducah and vicinity, a prominent dealer said today: "One reason that the 'famine' has never been felt here as in some places is that the supply of a number of retailers has never been quite exhausted."

"I estimate that Paducah uses 35 barrels a day. This is not all, however, required of the local jobbers, as they serve many of the surrounding cities and towns.

"There are eight or nine jobbers in Paducah, and they now receive one car load of sugar, on an average, a week. This is 100 barrels, and it has to go around. Ordinarily, with no sugar on hand, this would last about three days in Paducah alone, and not one day, probably, considering the other towns. But it has gone around fairly well so far, because as I said, the supply has never been entirely exhausted, and some retailers have bought no sugar for several weeks.

"We don't know how it is going to be when everybody gets out, but we hope that before that time the sugar market will be better."

PRESENT FROM STATE.

Interesting Books Received by Presto-dept of Library Board.

Mr. E. W. Bagby, president of the local Carnegie Library Board, this morning received a letter from Percy H. Adjutant general, advising him that he had sent with the complements of the state, a complete roster of the troops from Kentucky serving during the civil war, Mexican war and war of 1812.

These books are two volumes to the war, making six books, and are valuable. They retail at about $2.50 each, and Mr. Bagby was glad to secure them and appreciate the gift very much. He will write Gen. Haly a letter of thanks at once. The books were expressed the same day the letter was mailed and should reach the city today.

TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

MR. WILL SPANN FILED SUIT IN CIRCUIT COURT TODAY.

Mr. Will Spann, the popular manager of the Paducah Laundry, today filed suit in circuit court, through Attorneys Taylor & Lucas, to annul his marriage with Miss Laura Petter a few nights ago at the home of Justice Jesse Young. He claims he was forced and intimidated by the young lady's brother, Ed Petter, the grocer, and that he was told that all they wanted him to do was to marry her. He says the marriage was the result of compulsion, and asks for a dissolution of it.

BARRACKS BURN.

At an Academy Attended by Paducah Boys.

The barracks of the Military Institute at Staunton, Va., was burned late yesterday afternoon. This is the school which Will Rudy, Sam Hugger and Guy Martin, of this city, are attending. The parents of the boys have been notified by telegram that the section of the building where they were roomed escaped, and it is not known how much damage was done.

THE KILLING.

Name of the Man Killed by Sam Holman.

Regarding the killing at Urbana, Ill., reported to the police here yesterday, a dispatch to the Globe Democrat says:

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 20.—Last night Albert Ridley, a bystander, was shot and instantly killed by Samuel Holman, who had aimed the shot for Charles Elder, who also was shot and wounded in the arm. The shooting grew out of a quarrel over a colored woman.

TRAIN WRECK.

One Man Killed and Many Hurt on the Iron Mountain Road.

Swifton, Ark., Nov. 22.—The Hot Springs special on the Iron Mountain road ran into a freight here this morning. One trainman was killed and a number of passengers injured. The engine is a total wreck, and five passenger coaches and 25 loaded freight cars were burned.

The collision was caused by the dense smoke of forest fires.

Charge of Forgery.

William Melhei, a steamboat man formerly employed by Captain John McCaffery, Jr., on the steamer Ten Broeck, which recently burned, was arrested this afternoon by Officers Rogers and Moore on a warrant charging forgery. The warrant was issued at the instance of Mr. F. M. Cabel, of the Globe Bank and Trust Co., where two checks for $20.50 each were passed. The checks proved to be forgeries and the officers were warned to arrest the man.
